Time is what we want most, but what we use worst! —William Penn

The Bible says in Ephesians 5:15-16: "Be careful then how you live, not as unwise people but as wise, making the most of the time, because the days are evil." How we use our time is important to God. In another verse, we read: "Conduct yourselves wisely towards outsiders, making the most of the time" (Colossians 4:5). Imagine that $86,400 was deposited into your bank account every morning! However, this is a special account, one that carries over no balance from day to day, allows you to keep no cash balance, and every evening cancels whatever part of the amount you had failed to use during the day. What would you do? Of course, you would draw out every dollar every day! We all have such a bank. Its name is TIME. Every morning, it credits you with 86,400 seconds. Every night it writes off, as lost, whatever time you have failed to use wisely. It carries over no balance from day to day. It allows no overdraft so you can't borrow against yourself or use more time than you have. Each day, the account starts fresh. Each night, it destroys any unused time. If you fail to use the day's deposits, it's your loss and you can't appeal to get it back. There is never any borrowing time. You can't take a loan out on your time or against someone else's. The time you have is the time you have and that is that. It is for you to decide how you spend the time, just as with money you decide how you spend the money. It is never the case of us not having enough time to do things, but the case of whether we want to do them and where they fall in our priorities. — Timothy Merrill, with help from various anonymous sources Prayer: Loving God, help me to value the minutes, hours and days of every week as precious gifts from you! May you be glorified in all I do, whether sleeping or waking, walking about or lying down. My life is in your hands. In Jesus' name. Amen.
