Sunday School, Nursery, and Small Groups Reopening

Our current goal is to have our classes, groups, and nursery reopened this Sunday. We will still be following local and CDC guidelines for small groups and worship. This means social distancing and masks as each circumstance warrants. Please be patient and flexible as conditions may arise that will require us to make adaptations.

We encourage our classes to find a space within the church and pavilion that will allow you to gather and provide sufficient room to keep everyone safe and comfortable.

As always, we encourage each person and family to participate at a level that best suits their own individual needs and comfort level. We want to serve everyone to the best of our ability and keep everyone safe.

Vintage Methodist Recipes: 1898 Potato Puffs

Generations of United Methodist families have shared their recipes in church cookbooks, often sold as church fundraisers. We asked our friends at the General Commission on Archives and History to name the oldest church cookbook in their collection. Archivists shared a worn copy of the Ware Cookbook, published in 1898 by the Ladies of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Ware, Massachusetts. In cookbooks of this vintage, the recipes tend to be simple, with few ingredients and cooked over the flames of a kitchen fire. Lilla Marigza, Multimedia Producer with United Methodist Communications has been trying out some church cookbook recipes. In this video, Lilla whips up a batch of Potato Puffs from the 1898 Ware Cookbook
