Toys for Tots

Again this year the toys for tots organization would like your help with their program. In the past, gifts have been brought to the church and dropped off in the donation box. But this year they are taking monetary donations so they can purchase the toys. Once purchased, they will have a drive through pick-up point for the children in need. CUMC will have a donation box in the Narthax.

FOOD PANTRY:

Remember to bring your non-perishable items for the food pantry next Sunday, November 1 and place them in the grocery carts located at both entrances to the church.

Volunteer Caught in Action

When sitting in a pew at church, I never have given a thought as to how things get done or happen around the church, I always took it for granted. I mean it just happens right? The flowers adorn the alter, the video is being displayed for everyone to see, communion cups are filled, the grass has been mowed, the choir and bells play music for us, the children light the candles. Our church is a beautiful place and worship services are beautiful and meaningful. So much of this happens because of "our" volunteers. It takes many volunteers to keep up the church and make everything happen so I thought I would highlight a volunteer once in a while.

I captured this picture of someone that is part of the "mowing crew". There are three to four people that keep the lawn looking good so this month I am going to recognize one of them. The person is modest and doesn't want recognized or named. But I must say he does a lot of misc things here at the church. He has been seen mowing the grass, trimming the trees, or taking care of the church van just to name a few. So thank you so much for your service and all that you do!

The Protocol: Going Forward not Backward

"We haven't heard much about the Protocol recently; is it still on track?" That is one variation of a question the Wesleyan Covenant Association has regularly received over the past several weeks. Of course, people asking the question are referring to the Protocol for Reconciliation and Grace through Separation that calls for an amicable separation of The United Methodist Church. Given all that has transpired since the announcement of the Protocol, it feels like news about it came two or three years ago instead of this past January. Justifiably, for a time, our attention turned to more important and pressing matters.

But still, the question lingers as local churches, pastors, church officials, and bishops try to plan for the future in the midst of very trying circumstances. And so, with greater frequency and urgency, the question will be asked as the UM Church's 2021 General Conference draws closer. For our part, here is the answer we share with those who ask the question. To read the complete article, click here.
